

SMALL DOSES

The official eye-witness of the Willard Dempsey fight have not yet decided whether Willard was knocked down five times or seven times in the first round. Why not compromise on six and talk about something else?

The Bolshevik leaders in the Senate are claiming 38 votes against peace ratification, with the League of Nations a part of the treaty. Watch it dwindle when the public eye is focused on them!

Germany has ratified the treaty with surprising promptness by a vote of two to one and the war is over everywhere except in the United States Senate, where a few blood-thirsty Republicans are still fighting, and biting themselves.

They are going to try 50 prominent men of Bisbee, Ariz., for running a lot of striking I. W. W.'s out of town, who were trying to help Germany soon after America entered the war. The will of course be acquitted and their names ought to be placed on a roll of honor.

Speaking of Luke McLuke's "Names is Names," our news columns contain a notice of the marriage of Miss Pool to Mr. Waters.

T. G. Deakins, who was shot at Paterson, N. J., told the detectives not to bother about looking for the man who shot him, adding: "When I get out of the hospital I'll get him myself."

Knecht is doing great cartoon work in the Evansville Courier these summer days, while Mr. Roosa's editorials are classics. The Courier, by the way, has a new column of "Chaff" that is gaining a large following.

MENTAL PROBLEMS

By Matthew Matticks.

The jaws of a girl chewing gum move one fourth of an inch each chew and she chews 48 times a minute. If she chews one hour a day, how many days will it take for her jaws to travel a mile?

A small boy "cutting across" the corner of the yard to the side gate, makes a path on the hypothenuse of a triangle that saves 15 steps each trip. If he makes two trips a day how many miles does he save in a year?

If hogs are worth 22½ a pound on foot, what is the market value of a 200-pound man who occupies the end seat at a free show or a 160-lb. drummer who sits on one seat and put his grip and his feet on another in a crowded car?

If the ex-Kaiser has sawed up 6,000 trees into cord-wood, in six months, how long will it take him to saw himself in accord with the rest of mankind?

CAPT. MOSELEY OF LAFAYETTE

Home On a Visit After Taking Part in Four Bloody Battles.

Capt. E. G. Moseley, one of the heroes of the war from Christian, was in town yesterday enroute to Lafayette to visit his relatives.

Capt. Moseley has been in the regular army since 1913 and arrived in France in time to take part in four of the eight major engagements in which Americans took part. He was at Verdun, Chateau-Thierry, Champagne and in the final fight at Meuse-Argonne.

For distinguished gallantry at Champagne he was cited for his bravery and heroism. Two Christian county boys received this distinguished honor and so it happened that both were from Lafayette, a town named in honor of the French Marquis. Richard Moorefield was the other.

Capt. Moseley will be at home for awhile on a leave of absence, but has not been discharged. He is a fine young fellow, every inch a soldier, but withal bears his honors modestly.

SAVED BY A MIRACLE

REMARKABLE ESCAPE FROM INSTANT DEATH OF WM. A. LONG.

CAUGHT UNDER A DERRICK

Pinned to the Ground With Only Half An Inch to Spare and Helpless to Move.

Wm. A. Long, Superintendent of construction for the Forbes Manufacturing company and one of Hopkinsville's most prominent citizens, had a remarkable escape from instant death Thursday, while looking after the work of the Melton-Ellis Garage on the site of the old Methodist church.

A heavy iron derrick used to hoist the frame work became unsecured in some way and began falling directly towards Mr. Long, who was standing near. In attempting to get out of the way, he tripped and fell flat on his back, on some loose bricks lying on the ground, just as the huge derrick came squarely upon him, as he lay on the ground. The end of the derrick struck upon a small pile of bricks beyond Mr. Long and the impact barely enough of it held to protect the prostrate man from death. The beam came squarely across his chest, knocking him senseless for awhile and pinning him to the ground. A fall of half an inch more would have crushed the life out of him. As it was, when taken out he was but slightly bruised, and sick at his stomach from the shock. He soon revived and assumed his duties apparently not much worse off from his terrible experience.

WORK IS BEING PUSHED

Work On City Bank Building Being Pushed to Finish—To Be Fine Building.

The work on the new addition to the City Bank is being rapidly pushed and the building will soon be one of the most beautiful and also one of the best equipped and up-to-date bank buildings in Western Kentucky. The building next door to the bank and which was formerly occupied by Elgin's Drug Store has been torn down and rebuilt but the work has been done from the interior without taking away the front wall and many people did not know that any work was being done until the tearing away of the front wall was begun a few days ago.

The present bank building and the new structure will be merged into one, with the same stone front. This building when finished will be a great addition to the city and will help to beautify North Main street and boost Hopkinsville.

ARREST 51 FOR PRESIDENT TELLS SENATE BISBEE AFFAIR

PROMINENT MEN MADE DEFENDANTS IN DEPORTATION OF I. W. W. IN 1917.

EXPECTING MORE COMPLAINTS

Deportations Grew Out of Strike of Copper Miners on June 26, 1917.

Bisbee, Ariz., July 11.—Fifty-one men, many of them prominent locally and over the State, have been arrested for alleged participation in the deportation cases of July 21, 1917, when more than 1,100 alleged members of the I. W. W. and their sympathizers were taken out of town. All gave $2,000 bond. Sixty-four men have been named defendants in complaints filed before Judge W. G. Jacks of Douglas, who came here for that purpose.

Several hundred more complaints it is expected, will be filed and fifty more arrests are expected in the next three days, although according to Assistant County Attorney Roark, "it is not unlikely that further arrests will be delayed until the outcome of the trials of those already arrested is determined. It is possible that these first cases will be used as test cases."

Even since the morning of July 21, 1917 when 1,186 mine workers and their alleged sympathizers were forcibly driven from Bisbee, the deportations have been a source of discussion in this State and throughout the West.

After the deportations the United States grand jury indicted twenty-five of the most prominent men in Arizona, copper company officials, county officers and private citizens on charges of conspiracy to deprive private citizens of their constitutional rights. On December 3, last, Judge William W. Morrow of San Francisco sitting in the United States District court at Tucson, quashed the indictments when the trial was called. The United States Government immediately appealed from Judge Morrow's decision and today the case is pending in the supreme court of the United States.

Cheering Greeted Wilson as He Appears in Senate--After Delivering Message He Retires to His Office

WORLD EXPECTS U. S. LEADERSHIP

R-34 MAKING GOOD TIME

AIDED BY WESTERLY WIND, BIG DIRIGIBLE AVERAGES 60 MILES AN HOUR

BEST TIME OF WHOLE TRIP

Attained 75 to 80 Miles at Times and

May Finish Trip Saturday.

Washington, July 10.—Aided by a westerly wind that sometimes reached velocity of nearly 40 miles an hour, the British dirigible R-34 tonight was well out over the Atlantic on the return trip to East Fortune, Scotland, after a stay of 86 hours in America.

The last message from the airship received here late today by the navy department, gave her position at that time as 650 miles due east of Bar Harbor, Maine, and more than 1,000 miles from Mineola, Long Island, from which she started last night.

The dirigible, according to wireless reports received here by the navy department throughout the day, average more than 60 miles an hour for the 15 hours hours of the return flight and at times the big airship's speed reached between 75 and 80 miles an hour. The dirigible thus was making better time than at any period of the flight to this side of the Atlantic and if the weather conditions remain favorable, naval officers here believe Maj. G. H. Scott, commander, and members of the R-34's crew will see British shores early Saturday.

Washington, July 11.—The peace treaty with its League of Nations covenant was laid before the Senate by President Wilson in an address accounting to the country for his part of the negotiations at Versailles.

The League, declared the President, was born of the conviction of practical statesmen that an international concert had become a necessity to end the old order and guarantee civilization. He asserted that in such a concert the world looked confidently to America for leadership and added that while the treaty might not be exactly as the American delegation would have written it, no vital principle had been sacrificed by the necessary compromises.

The Senate, already divided in a bitter fight over the League proposal, received the President with cheers and listened to his words in a grave silence. When he concluded there was another burst of cheering until he had passed out of the chamber and had gone to his capitol office where he talked for an hour with Senators who wished to ask about specific features of the treaty or of the negotiations. In these conferences the President discussed freely subjects as the disposition of Shantung, the German indemnities and Irish freedom.

In his address, however, there was no direct reference to many of the questions around which senate debate has centered, the president declaring he could not construe details of the treaty in a short address. He did not mention directly the Monroe Doctrine, Shantung or the obligations assumed under article ten of the League covenant, nor did he allude to the proposal to write reservations into the ratification. He asserted a hope that he would be given opportunity to discuss details later, either with the whole senate or the foreign relations committee.

"My services and all the information I possess," said Mr. Wilson, "will be at your disposal and at the disposal of your committee on foreign relations at any time, either informally or in session, as you prefer, and I hope that you will not hesitate to make use of them."

American Isolation Ended. American isolation, the President asserted, was ended twenty years ago when the war with Spain put the nation in partial control of Cuba and the Philippines.

Republicans Did Not Applaud Wilson. President Wilson was hailed in a most remarkable way by the Senate when he appeared to speak on the League of Nations. Republican Senators sat like statues and did not applaud when he arrived, when he departed or at any time during his address. A few Democratic senators joined in the hazing. Only one Republican Senator, Senator McCumber applauded at any time. The galleries however, made up for the lack of enthusiasm on the senate floor.
